PROPOSAL FOR THE PURCHASE OF COMMERCIAL AUDIO RECORDING SOFTWARE

I. Background
The Department of Information and Communications Technology (ICT) at Cavite State University (CSU) Don Severino de las Alas Campus is currently seeking proposals for the purchase of commercial audio recording software. The software is intended for use in the Department's audio recording studio, which is used for recording and editing audio files for various projects, including radio broadcasts, podcasts, and audio recordings for educational purposes. The software should be capable of recording, editing, and mixing audio files in a professional quality, and should be compatible with the existing hardware and software infrastructure of the studio. The software should also be easy to use and have a good user interface. The software should be able to handle large audio files and should be able to export the recorded files in various formats. The software should also have the ability to create and manage playlists and should be able to integrate with other software applications. The software should be able to handle multiple tracks and should be able to mix and master the audio files. The software should also have the ability to create and manage metadata for the recorded files. The software should be able to handle multiple users and should be able to share the recorded files with other users. The software should be able to handle multiple projects and should be able to save and load the project files.
